

Create static content

The set of links in the box below allow you to create different basic kinds of static site content. Each of these has slightly different behaviour and presentation.

Create a Topic when you wish to create a new level in the information hierarchy or when you have many other pieces of content you wish to be related in the one place.

Create the other kinds of content when you wish to have specific kinds of content (e.g. an Image when you have a graphic image, a File when you have a proprietary format Word or PDF file).
