For general users, METeOR is a resource for finding, viewing and downloading data standards. They are not required to undergo any registration processes and have immediate access to the:

- METEOR homepage for background information on METEOR and its structures
- Find metadata page for search and browse tools
- Help page for information on how to find and view standards
- Contact us page for further assistance
- My items page for storing selected standards for later viewing and downloading

General users need not worry about creating content and are not required to login. General users make up the majority of METEOR users.
