Guide For Use: The agency should record the client's full First given name on their information systems. The field length for this data element is at the discretion of information system designers.
Collection Methods: This data element should be recorded for all clients. Often people use a variety of names, including legal names, married/maiden names, nicknames, assumed names, traditional names, etc. Even small differences in recording - such as the difference between Thomas and Tom - can make record linkage impossible. To minimise discrepancies in the recording and reporting of name information, agencies should ask the person for their full (formal) First given name and Family name/surname.

These may be different from the name that the person may prefer the agency workers to use in personal dealings. Agencies may choose to separately record the preferred name that the person wishes to be used by agency workers.

In some cultures it is traditional to state the family name first. To overcome discrepancies in recording/reporting that may arise as a result of this practice, agencies should always ask the person to specify their First given name and their family name or surname separately. These should then be recorded as First given name and Family name/surname as appropriate, regardless of the order in which they may be traditionally given.
