Timeliness - Quality Statement

The delay to which the information correctly describes the phenomena being measured. Aspects of timeliness which should be addressed, where relevant, include:

- the reference period (to which the data pertain)
- the frequency with which data are provided
- the frequency of publication of data
- the agreed date for provision of initial data
- the actual date at which all necessary data first became available
- the intended first release of a publication/report
- the actual first release of data from the collection
