Collection and usage attributes

Guide for use:	The detention file contains information on the periods of detention young people under youth justice supervision experience. It includes information on the type of detention and the start and end date of the period of detention (used to calculate duration). It also includes information on why a detention period ended, which aids in describing how young people exit detention. The postcode item in this file enables analyses of the remoteness and socioeconomic status of the areas in which young people lived before they entered detention. The person identifier is a jurisdictionally-specific code that uniquely identifies a young person (youth justice agency responsible for the young person). The person identifier is used to link to the client file in order to gain demographic information on young people in detention.
