Data element attributes

Collection and usage attributes

Guide for use:	The ability of jurisdictions to generate unique identifiers varies. The assignment of Person identifier to a uniquely identifiable individual is important for the ABF MHC DSS to permit the linkage of services between mental health care services.
Collection methods:	For the purposes of activity based funding reporting, this data element can be derived from existing data elements. Ambulatory care- this data element can be derived from Person- Unique identifier used indicator, yes/no code N.
Comments:	For the purposes of reporting mental health care activity for activity based funding, the value reported should represent the highest level of organisation at which a unique patient identifier is applicable and allows all associated health care activity to be reported.
