Teaching and training

Identifying and definitional attributes

Metadata item type: Glossary Item

METEOR identifier: 706425

Registration status: Health, Standard 12/12/2018

Definition: The formal teaching or training activities which relate to the imparting of knowledge, development of skills and clinical competency acquisition to undergraduate and postgraduate students, practitioners in own discipline, and other practitioners as part of a structured program. This includes supervision of undergraduate students and where appropriate, postgraduate students when it is part of their formal accreditation or registration program. Supervision of staff involved in a structured educational program would be considered teaching and training.

The definition is inclusive of interactions with training institutions and students and the preparation for and delivery of structured activities such as in-services, lectures, presentations and tutorials. It does not include one-to-one staff supervision, informal ad hoc sessions with staff or professional development.
